

PREMIER OF RUMANIA THREATENS TO EXILE EX-QUEEN MARIE

RESEN'S WIFE DRIVE FOR REGENCY

Demands Repudiation of Dowager's Recent Attacks on National Council

Bucharest, Oct. 26 (AP) - The Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania has been threatened with banishment from her native land unless she repudiates all claims to a part on the regency council, it was reported on good authority here today.

Insisted upon the queen's repeated attempts to gain a seat on the ruling council, Premier Jean Marica threatened to send her into exile with her eldest son, the exiled Crown Prince Carol, according to the reports.

BATTLE FOR REGENCY

Queen Marie's battle for regency nomination on the regency council started with the death of M. George Brudardian, chief judge of the supreme court and one of the regents appointed to rule during the minority of King Michael.

Altho she was not Prince Nicholas had a place on the council, but she refused an offer from Premier Marica to take Nicholas' seat on condition he withdrew.

The battle reached a climax when the Rumanian newspaper Universul pointed a lengthy statement, attributed to the queen, in which she denounced a recent attack against the government and threatened to bring the royal family around in a "few days."

PLAYED POLITICIANS

She sharply criticized the appointment of politicians to rule in place of the country and expressed her determination to fight to the bitter end for a place for herself as regent.

While a later denial was interpreted merely as a tactical move on the part of the queen, Premier Marica now is demanding a formal repudiation from her.

AIR MEET AT NEWBURYPORT SUNDAY

By GEORGE W. HAMILIN

There was a great deal of interest about the present system of airplane service, but the best example of this service was offered by East Coast Aircraft Corp. when a Whirlwind motorized plane came down from Newbury, N. H., with a magnificent staff of fliers.

The employees of East Coast Aircraft of the company, jumped into the aircraft and cleaned up the air in two hours, and after fifteen minutes, and that is the record for service on this route.

But that is no more of less than what Amer is doing in its new company, which provides service for all Whirlwind engine owners in New England and since company offers the only complete Whirlwind service in these New England states.

Amer further states that his outfit will be completely moved within the next week, but that the equipment will not be set up for another week or two. Frank LeMay, an American pilot, will be the pilot of the Whirlwind motorized Travel Air, and is expected to be back in Boston tomorrow.

When he returns Amer will start for Wichita, Kan., on a flight of business, and when he returns, probably in two weeks, the new building of East Coast Aircraft Corp. will be officially dedicated, with everybody interested in flying cordially invited.

MEET AT NEWBURYPORT

We hear from Newburyport that the largest air meet ever held in the town will take place tomorrow, Sunday, with about ten airplanes taking part in the aerial show.

James Dickson and Earl Crobb, the former chief of operations and the latter chief pilot and aviation operations manager, state they have the most complete program of events ever seen by residents of Newburyport.

Charlie Arnold, the King of the Racecourse, will be there, according to latest advice, and Dickson, and when that boy arrives, he will make a real show of it. Dickson, Crobb, and Earl Crobb will have the best of the race, and when Arnold gets there, with the three most of the Travel Air, he will have the best of the race.

At any rate, there will be a lot of fun at the Newburyport Airport tomorrow, and there will be a lot of fun at the Newburyport Airport tomorrow, and there will be a lot of fun at the Newburyport Airport tomorrow.

GUARD FLIES OFF

Four planes of the 10th Cavalry, 10th Squadron, Massachusetts National Guard, took off at 8 o'clock this morning for Newburyport Airport, Trenton, N. J., for a two-day air meet in that city. The ships were three Curtiss Falcon 61's, and one Consolidated 017.

The three Falcons were expected to race the race for the John A. Buel prize for Liberty motorized National Guard airplanes.

The ships will take on an incomplete count, as far as the enlisted men go. Maj. Louis E. Boutwell, commander of the unit, will be accompanied by Capt. E. Stanley Beck, Albert L. Caplan, Boston Airport superintendent, and Capt. W. E. "Pop" Miller, Lieut. Robert L. O'Brien, State Supervisor of Aviation, Ted Baker, and Norman Bertram.

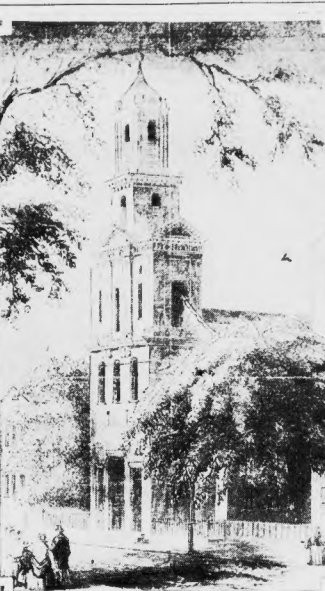

Capt. Beck, Edson and Mather will race the Falcons, and the rest of the boys, the pilots, we mean, will generally enjoy themselves.

O'Brien, who directs the aircraft races and regulations of the State, will be unable to attend today's performance, as he observes the eighth anniversary of his marriage. A wedding anniversary party is in order at O'Brien's house tonight.

The Cardinal's Offer

Cardinal O'Connell is to be congratulated for focusing tercentenary activities in a literary direction. His offer of $500 to be divided into three prizes for the best articles on "Bigotry and Prejudice in New England, racial and religious; causes, effects and remedies," should set many a newspaper man and woman to work nibbling up records and analyzing events.

It would seem to us most worthwhile to devote two-thirds of the article to the last element. "Remedies."

While we may regret more that has happened in the past, and wish it were different—events of our early history are now down in black and white on the tables of his long unerasable and indestructible. We are, however, responsible for what is going on today. Racial and religious bigotry and prejudice may pass from our midst if we determine they must. Good-will between all classes and religious faiths is a goal we all desire and hope for, and if the newspaper writers set about it they can go a long way toward increasing friendliness as their contribution to the Tercentenary year.

$20,000,000 Unfilled Orders for Baldur's Gate

When I speak of business, I mean it in the broadest, general sense.

Dividend Raised

White Moto declared quarterly dividend of 50 cents, payable Dec. 1 to stock of record by 12, paying the stock on a $2 annual basis, net of $1 paid since early 1934.

Company's action was based upon increased earnings, its strong cash position and the favorable outlook for business.

U. S. FISH TAKE LEAD

Columbia's total annual imports of fish products reach close to a total value of $225,000, of which the United States supplies between 80 and 90 percent, according to Trade Commissioner H. P. Macgowan at Panama City, in a report to the Department of Commerce.

EPOCH-MAKING DEVELOPMENTS ARE CIED

Ten epoch-making developments which combine to make the existing economic structure different from that of earlier years are cited by the Wall Street Journal in a study of the question. As we go on, we shall find that these developments which have contributed to important changes in the American economic structure are being met by the bank.

- 1. Increased gold supply and change in credit system.
- 2. Federal Reserve system.
- 3. Increased production efficiency.
- 4. "Artificial" buying.
- 5. Hand-to-mouth trading.
- 6. High money rates without credit expansion.
- 7. Changing methods of financing.
- 8. Investment trusts.
- 9. Outside brokers.
- 10. Greater business and investment.

Although the business cycle with its alternating periods of prosperity and depression, will not be destroyed by these new factors in the situation, it should be noted that the effect of these changes is to make the business cycle more irregular than formerly. The bank, however, is not the only factor in the situation. The new economic structure is being met by the bank.

At present we are in a period of depression which has been brought about without intervention for five years, says the bank. On the other hand, the bank is not the only factor in the situation. The new economic structure is being met by the bank.

TICKER TALK

By THE WALL STREET SPECTATOR

Editors Note: This column is written before the opening of the market today. The report is an effort to provide you with early developments in some stocks. The Boston Evening American takes no responsibility for the correctness of the forecasts. The column is for your information only.

Safe Margins Still Needed

While traders generally have been optimistic about the market, the fact remains that the market is still in a state of uncertainty. The margin is still needed to support the market.

Investment Buying

Stocks are selling at a discount, and many investors are taking advantage of the opportunity. The market is still in a state of uncertainty, but the margin is still needed to support the market.

Investment Trusts

One feature of the market is the fact that many investors are turning to investment trusts. These trusts offer a way to invest in a diversified portfolio of stocks and bonds.

Price-Earnings Ratio

Now that it is acknowledged that the market is in a state of uncertainty, the price-earnings ratio is a key factor in determining the value of stocks.

Large Scale Speculation

Anyone who thought the market was a safe haven for large-scale speculation is now realizing that it is not. The market is still in a state of uncertainty, and the margin is still needed to support the market.

Tipping Still Absent

Not in years has ball tipping been as active as it is now. The market is still in a state of uncertainty, and the margin is still needed to support the market.

The Bankers' Pool

Probably the most important single influence in the market is the bankers' pool. This pool of capital is used to support the market and to provide liquidity.

PARADOX OF BUSINESS IS NOTED

JOHN L. SULLIVAN will be the speaker at the Large Manufacturers Association luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, 10 o'clock, today. The speaker will discuss the paradox of business, which is that while the economy is growing, there is still a need for more production.

This Man 'Stole' Water

Troubles of the 'Dry' Season in Town and Village

If yesterday anyone had said that such a thing was possible we couldn't have believed him, but here are the reports, one after another, of the prosecution of a Maine man for stealing four quarts of water.

His name is Willie Sanborn. He lives in Gray, 16 miles north of Portland.

First Selectman Fred Barton had Mr. Sanborn up before Judge Pimansky in the Municipal Court at Portland.

It appears that about one-third of all the wells in Gray have "gone dry," and that Citizen Sanborn persisted in helping himself to the water of the Pennell Institute well after he had been warned to quit.

"I won't quit," he said to the sheriff, it was testified. "I've been coming to this well in periods of drought for seventeen years, and I'd like to see the man who can make me stop."

Judge Pimansky rebuked him for his "un-American attitude" and placed him "on probation" for two years.

The town of Gray is building a water system, which will be ready for service in a month or two.

What is the head of a bottled-in do in a case like Willie Sanborn's? The Portland justice might have given us light on that subject, but he didn't, and we're wondering.

Feeling Blue, Youngster?

(Just a Minute)

THE Boston University News reminds us that "you never can tell."

Once upon a time, a young man came to the dean of B. U. Law School to discuss "financial aid."

The world goes to that man now to straighten out its financial tangles.

His name is Owen D. Young.

Another young man, who played on B. U. football and baseball teams, never was even considered for a captaincy.

HE caught the World Series games for the champion Athletics and stands out as the American League's "most valuable player." His name is Gordon Cochran.

A third young man at B. U. went out for the cast of a variety show, but couldn't make it.

You have to stand in line before the movie palaces to get SEE him.

He hails from Ouset and his name is Charlie Farrell.

Who would think of tagging a "moral" onto this little recital? Courage, lad! Take heart! Issue! If there isn't a rainbow 'round your shoulder, you may be sure that there is one down the road a piece.

Let's go!

Wooden Horse of Troy Had Nothing on This One!

By Nelson Harding

It was a very crafty gift.
That wooden horse of Troy,
And when accepted by the town
Seemed but a harmless toy.

But once within the city's gates
Its purpose was revealed,
For it was filled with well-armed Greeks
And then Troy's fate was sealed. —N. H.

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR 'BUCK' BAER

THE sensational investigation in which I have been the only one to take part.

There has been a digging up of some queer lobbies.

There is still a group in Washington trying to gain control of the world's milk.

Another lobby is trying to bring back the old days.

A big European syndicate is interested in sawing off the head of the world's milk.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Many a woman secretly wishes that she could do over her husband as she does over her house, into an antique style or an Early American "period."

In these days of rapid divorce and progressive matrimony, a Paris who has been in the family for five or ten years is regarded by the children as quite an heirloom.

Whether you are born in the "queenly class" or the "cote class," success consists in "featuring" your own type, not in being a poor imitation of the other woman.

This modernistic "companionship" of marriage must keep a woman feeling as nervous and jumpy as living in a rented house, when she is sold over her head, any day, or any moment.

Woman did not take much pleasure in matrimony, because the souls of so many things about him that need "refining" as much more desperately.

If he didn't melt under the mellowing harvest moon, and doesn't come to the point under the promise of matrimony, the only thing you can do, dear heart, is to wait until Spring comes into his veins and the mellowing mood is upon him.

Husbands and clocks do not exactly make the world go round, but they are a way of making you feel that it would come to a standstill without them.

Marriage is the point, at which man and woman stop trying to outdo each other and begin trying to SURVIVE each other and that's where the fun begins.

Most wedding rings are worn too tight, at Grandmother's.

Frenchmen Don't Get Facts

If They Did, They Would Not Print This Picture

WHAT AMERICA PRETENDS SHE IS BRINGING TO EUROPE

A FRENCH IDEA OF "UNCLE SAM"

IN the upper part of this picture you see Uncle Sam pointing to the word "Pax," meaning "peace," below a French caricaturist's idea of what Uncle Sam does to that word "Pax."

The average Frenchman, living at home, believes that Uncle Sam is a Shylock, a lender of poor, unfortunate nations that owe him money.

This cartoon from the Paris "Charivari" represents the general French feeling exactly.

The facts are that our settlement actually forgave 61 per cent of what France owed this Government. The French have a charmingly humorous idea that they saved this nation from destruction by Germany. We don't agree with that, but let it go.

We did not collect from France in that settlement made by our Government ONE DOLLAR OF MONEY LENT TO FRANCE DURING THE WAR. We forgave 61 per cent of the French debt, collected only 39 over a long period with a very low rate of interest. And every dollar collected was money that we lent to France AFTER THE WAR HAD ENDED.

And even during the war France did not use all the thousands of millions entirely for war purposes.

With presence of mind and good business judgment, the French used a good deal of that money buying ships which now strengthen the great commercial ship company, the Messagerie Maritime.

When the settlement with France was made, President Hoover issued a statement in which he put the facts plainly.

HE showed that in this settlement we had forgiven 61 per cent of the debt of France, collecting only 39, and that we had not taken from the French a single dollar lent to them WHILE THE WAR WAS ON.

You may be interested to hear that NOT ONE SINGLE FRENCH NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED A WORD OF PRESIDENT HOOVER'S STATEMENT.

Newspapers printed in Paris, in English, seen only by Englishmen and Americans, printed the President's statement.

Not one in ten thousand of the millions of people in France are aware of the fact that instead of dealing with a remorseless Shylock, and paying Uncle Sam every dollar that they owe, they were permitted to pay not one dollar of what they borrowed in the wartime, and only 39 per cent of their total debt.

As a Shylock Uncle Sam is a poor imitation. The fact that France doesn't know it is, after all, not important.

Americans like the French, wish them well, and wish that their newspapers would give them more accurate information.

They are even glad to know that the French have now accumulated in New York City alone one thousand million dollars, payable in gold, and have, next to Uncle Sam, the greatest gold supply in the world.
